

In these uncertain times, the budget must favor health and safety spending over all else, including education. Other spending should be limited until the economic outlook and County revenues are more certain. As available resources become known the Council may enact a supplemental appropriation that is consistent with available resources. Reducing spending levels is easier to accomplish at the start of a fiscal year than in the middle of the year.